

PUBLICATION AGREEMENT FOR DUKE UNIVERSITY PRESS JOURNALS

(Note: Production work cannot begin until each author has signed and returned this form.)

To: _____ (Author)

From: _____ (Editor), acting for the Labor and Working-Class History Association (“the Sponsor”) and in conjunction with Duke University Press (“the Publisher”).

We are pleased to have accepted for publication in Labor: Studies in Working-Class History your article entitled

_____.

As a condition of publication, the Author hereby grants and assigns to the Sponsor, under the terms set forth below, any and all rights covered by the Copyright Law of the United States and those of all foreign countries in and to the above-named article, including subsidiary rights and rights in any medium now known or hereafter discovered. The Author also hereby guarantees that this article contains no matter which can be construed as libelous or as infringing in any way on the copyright of another party, and that he or she will defend, indemnify, and hold harmless the Sponsor and Publisher against all suits, proceedings, or claims that may be taken on the grounds that said article is in such violation.

The Sponsor, as assignee, grants to the Author the right to use his or her article for the following noncommercial purposes: the right to make and distribute copies in the course of teaching and research; the right to quote from the article in any book or article that he or she may later write; the right to photocopy the article for his or her own use, including use in his or her own classes; the right to post the Author’s accepted manuscript on the Author’s personal website, in the Author’s university repository, and in other nonprofit or governmental open access repositories, with copyright and source information provided along with a link to the published version as soon as it is available; and the right to republish the article in any book he or she may write or edit after the journal has appeared. In case of republication, notice of previous publication in Labor: Studies in Working-Class History, and that it is republished by permission of the Publisher, Duke University Press, must be given.

The (lead) Author will be given an opportunity, and a reasonable amount of time, to read and correct either the edited manuscript or proofs, depending on the journal’s customary procedure; but if these are not returned to the Editor or the Publisher by the date specified, then production and publication may proceed without the Author’s corrections. For diagrams or illustrations used in the article, the Author agrees to furnish digital files satisfactory to the Publisher’s production department. The Author further agrees to reimburse the Publisher for the cost of any alterations the Publisher must make on such digital files. In addition, the Author agrees to be responsible for composition charges incurred when his or her changes made to typeset proofs affect, as an average, more than three lines per page.
